

The Photographic Angle and Royal Photographic Society Environmental Awareness Bursary 2022

The Royal Photographic Society in partnership with The Photographic Angle is offering a 1 year bursary to support a photographic project that will promote environmental awareness.

Applications are invited from anyone living or studying in the United Kingdom with a talent for taking photographs and an interest in the environmental concerns that we face today.

The bursary will provide £3000 to assist with travel expenses, photographic equipment and other project-related costs.

We are looking for a creative interpretation of the subject as well as documentary or editorial photography.

The closing date will be the 4 July 2022. We will notify the successful applicant by the end of July 2022. Unfortunately, we will not be able to provide individual feedback due to the volume of applications.

The successful applicant will be expected to deliver a 500 word report and 8 images, halfway through their project. The final report will need to be 1000 words with 10 images, along with an agreement to give a talk or workshop on their project at an RPS event.

Your work will be published in the RPS Journal and TPA and RPS websites and we will be looking for an applicant who has a clear idea of where and how they will use their images to get their messages across to as wide an audience as possible.

Submitting your Application

Images

You will firstly be asked to load your 8 images with titles, the titles can simply be numerical if they don't have any. There is also the opportunity to add captions for further description if you wish. These images must relate to the section Past Project in your application.

IMPORTANT – remember to click save once you have done the above or you will not be able to submit the application at the end of the process.

Information about your project

Please ensure that you fill in each section with as much detail as you can.

You will be asked to give a clear financial breakdown on how you plan to spend the bursary, the time scale and what you plan to do with the work on completion.

Please take into consideration the environmental impact your project will have and tell us how you plan to minimise this.

Submitting your project

The submission button at the top of the page above your images, will only appear if you have completed all the required section in the application, including up-loading and giving your images a title.

Once you have submitted your application you have up to the closing date to edit your work and resubmit. You can access your submission via the confirmation email which includes a link to the main page. You can find your application in Applications at the very top of this page or via the yellow bar under RPS Bursaries.
